INTER-STATE FAIR GOES TO HUGE SUCCESS

Third Day of Exhibition Opens With Favorable Weather; Record Crowd Expected this Afternoon

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUB WORK ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Grand Parade of Livestock in Front of Grandstand Friday Afternoon a Feature

The big parade of livestock will be held Friday afternoon on the dirt track in front of the grandstand. This parade, which will be the largest in the history of the fair, will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock. Each herd will be headed by a banner carrying the name of the exhibitor.

On Friday the Tomah military band will entertain visitors at the fair. The leader of the band is Ben Nuzum, mayor of Tomah.

Two big races are on the card for Friday afternoon. These are the 2:10 pace and the 2:18 trot each for a purse of $500.

This is Big Day

WITH blue skies and bright sunshine Thursday morning, the outlook for the third day of the Inter-State fair, designated as "Wednesday," was the best so far. If the good weather continues today and tomorrow, there is no doubt that all attendance records at the fair will be broken.

Special attractions on the program for Thursday included musical numbers by the Winona concert band, and an especially interesting racing program. The races regularly scheduled for Thursday, and the free for all pace set originally for Wednesday, will be run Thursday afternoon. The purses amount to $1400.

Boys' and Girls' Club

One department of the fair that is attracting an unusual amount of interest this year is the Boys' and Girls' club department. The club work among the young people of this section of the state has increased fifty per cent in the last year and from present indications, through the medium of the exhibits and demonstration at the fair, the membership next year will increase in greater proportion.

Five demonstrations of work of the boys and girls were put on Wednesday afternoon, attracting a great deal of attention. There is a separate large tent set aside for this purpose, provided with seats for several hundred persons and a stage for the demonstration teams. The five demonstrations Wednesday were: one in dyeing by girls from Cochrane, Wis.; one in dyeing by a team from the town of Shelby; one in milk drinks by girls from the town of Okauchee and two calf demonstrations by teams from Tomah and West Salem.

Demonstrations Today

Thursday afternoon five more demonstrations will be held. These will include: canning, breadmaking, and poultry demonstrations. After Thursday's demonstration the judging of the teams will take place and prizes for the best will be awarded.

AGRICULTURE IS BIGGEST INDUSTRY IN THIS COUNTRY

A. R. Kroh Talks of Splendid Co-operation Between Farmer and City Man Here

CAPACITY CROWD AT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DINNER HERE

Gives Great Boost for Livestock Breeders in Country

"AGRICULTURE is the basis of all wealth," declared A. R. Kroh, of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. of Akron, O., in an address at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night.

The second weekly dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was even more of a success than the first one held a week ago. The large assembly room was filled with members of the Chamber of Commerce, and their guests, the exhibitors at the Inter-State fair.

Mr. Kroh, who is himself a farmer and who has a keen insight into the conditions of the agricultural interests of the country, had as his subject "The Future of American Industry, and its Dependence on Agriculture."

He said in part: "It is wonderful to come here tonight and see the splendid co-operation that exists between the farmer and the city man in this locality. It is wonderful to see a city business man who cares enough to know the farmer to make an effort to get acquainted with him, and it is equally wonderful to see farmers who have brains enough to see their advantage."

"The collapse of commercial activities in 1920," said the speaker, "which followed closely the reduction in the price of farm products and the consequent inability of farmers to buy on the markets, nearly brought calamity to the country. It may be a good thing that it did. It has served to get people's minds off themselves, and it has brought a definite realization to many business men that commerce depends upon agriculture."

Biggest Industry

"Agriculture is by far the biggest industry in the country. There is invested in all manufacturing and in all railroads in this country a total of 36 billions of dollars, and in the farm industry a total of 77 billions of dollars."

Mr. Kroh cited the examples of the decay of Babylon and the fall of Rome in illustrating the point that the trend toward city dwelling would bring about the collapse of the nation unless checked. He pointed out that there are at present less than 30 per cent of the people of the country now on the land, and that the burden of feeding the other 70 per cent rests on their shoulders. He pleaded for a return to the land, and for farm life made attractive enough to hold people on the farm.

Menace Threatens

The tendency is now, he said, toward a nation of poor tenants. There is a gradual increase in the size of the farms, and a decrease in the number of farmers, which is a grievous menace to the nation. He quoted the example of New York state, which has hundreds of untenanted farm houses, and of Iowa, where much of the land is in big tracts owned by men who do not themselves work the farms.

"A great responsibility rests on the shoulders of the city men and the farmers in averting this menace," he continued. "You have trained men here to advise you in such matters, and I urge you to listen to their advice. Your county agent has the right ideas, and if you follow his lead you will come out all right."

Lauds Holcombe

"The secretary of your Chamber of Commerce, Mr. R. W. Holcombe, has a past record of fine achievement, and can be depended upon to give you the best that there is to be had. I urge you to support him both morally and financially to the limit. He is a go-getter, and he'll produce the results."

"The time to build the proposed new buildings at the fair grounds is not next year," said the speaker, "but now, just as soon as you can get the carpenters to go to work on them."

"The La Crosse district has never had such advantages that have never been developed. These hills around here, which are now held to be practically valueless, can be made to grow apples and grapes with a huge profit."

Eradicate Disease

The speaker made an especial appeal to those present to work for the eradication of tuberculosis and other disease from live stock, for much of the profit of the farming in this section comes from cattle. He said further that every farmer should know just exactly how much each farm animal should produce in a year to pay for its keep and to be made a paying institution. Those animals, or "boarders," which neither pay for their keep nor produce anything, are a drain on the farm.

W. E. POLLEYS IS CALLED BY DEATH IS WORD RECEIVED

Former City Clerk of La Crosse and Well Known Citizen Dies in Missoula

HAS BEEN IN POOR HEALTH FOR THE PAST TWO YEARS

Body Will be Brought to La Crosse for Interment

W. E. POLLEYS, head of the Polleys Lumber company of Missoula, Mont., and former city clerk and well known resident of La Crosse, died at 1 o'clock Thursday morning at his home in Missoula, according to a message received by his nephew, George E. Taylor, secretary of the La Crosse Trust company.

Mr. Polleys had not been in good health for two years, but his condition was not regarded as serious until a short time before his death, when he suffered a stroke. His daughter, Mrs. Irene de Galar of Los Angeles, was with him when he died.

Burial Here

The body will be brought to La Crosse for burial in the family lot in Oak Grove cemetery. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Mr. Polleys was born in Washington county, Maine, May 4, 1851, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Polleys. The father was a lumberman in Maine and engaged in that business when the family came to Wisconsin and settled at Melrose in 1856. The beautiful Polleys home still stands in Melrose and is one of the landmarks of the village.

In Lumber Trade

W. E. Polleys was educated at Galesville and at the La Crosse Business college, graduating from the latter institution in 1871. He was a bookkeeper for his father for six years and then, with his brother Edgar H., succeeded his father in the lumber business here. The firm name being Polleys Bros. They carried on the business until 1884, when they sold out and embarked in the lumber business at Bainbridge, Ga. Within a year their mill was burned and they returned to La Crosse, engaging in the logging business on the Chippewa river.

Elected City Clerk

Mr. Polleys was elected city clerk of La Crosse in 1887 and was re-elected in 1889. At the end of his second term in this office he bought the City Book Store, at the southeast corner of Fifth and Main streets, which he conducted until 1903, when he formed the Polleys Lumber company at Lincoln, Neb. Seven years later the firm moved to Missoula, Mont., erecting there a large mill which is still in operation.

Surviving are the daughter, Mrs. de Galar of Los Angeles, and three brothers, Edgar H., associated with the lumber company at Missoula; Abner D., who lives at the old home in Melrose, and Frank O., who resides in the west. Mr. Polleys visited in La Crosse the last time in 1921.

FRUIT VENDER HELD FOR HITTING STATE AGENT IN THE FACE

E. E. Blashek Struck by Louis Klein Following Argument Over Transient's License

E. E. Blashek, state treasury agent, was beaten by Louis Klein, a fruit peddler on the Interstate fair grounds Wednesday afternoon. Blashek's left eye was knocked out of its socket and his face badly cut. Klein was arraigned in county court Thursday morning and bail set at $1,000 for appearance on October 12, in charges of assault with intent to do great bodily harm. The case was postponed three weeks to await the outcome of Blashek's injury.

Klein was arraigned in county court Wednesday morning on a charge of vending without a transient merchant's license. He was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Blashek. He was told in court to get a license. In the afternoon when Blashek went to the fair grounds, he found Klein still operating without a license. Again Blashek told him he would have to do a license. Blashek says he started to leave when Klein struck him over the left eye.

FRIENDS OF BILL SHORT FOUR VOTES

Defection of Two Former Friends of Bonus and Absence of Three Bring Defeat to Measure

HOUSE OPPOSES PRESIDENT'S VETO BY FIVE TO ONE VOTE

Bonus May be Made Issue in Congressional Campaigns this Fall

WASHINGTON.—For a third time the soldiers' bonus legislation has failed of enactment. The senate late Wednesday sustained President Harding's veto of the Fordney-McCumber bill, the vote of 44 to 28 falling four short of the two-thirds majority that would have been necessary to have made it a law without the executive's signature. Five hours before the senate acted, the house overrode the veto, 258 to 54.

The action of the senate makes impossible veterans compensation legislation at least until the next session of congress, which will begin early in December. Meantime, however, it is the purpose of some opponents to continue the fight and the bonus may become an issue in some of the congressional and senatorial campaigns this fall.

Reinforced by the defection of Senator McKinley (Ill.) and Senator Cameron (Ariz.) republicans, and aided by the absence of three "unpaired" supporters of the bill, the anti-bonus forces mustered more than they needed to uphold the president's veto.

Seventy-two Senators were present and voting. To have obtained the necessary two-thirds vote to override the president's veto the bonus advocates would have had to cast 48 votes. They fell four short of this mark.

Bill Rushed to Burial

The final defeat of the bonus, ending the three years' struggle to enact it into law, came with dramatic swiftness.

Immediately after convening the house without debate proceeded to vote on the question of passing the bill over Mr. Harding's veto. The result was an emphatic and overwhelming of the executive veto. The vote was nearly five to one, exactly the same ratio by which the bill passed several months ago. The measure was then rushed to the senate where after a few hours' debate it was killed.

Only two changes in the senate line-up were brought about by President Harding's veto. Announcement was made that Senator McKinley, now in Europe, if present would have voted to sustain the president. He was paired with Senator Caraway (Ark.) and Senator Jones (N. M.) democrats who if present would have voted to override the veto. Senator Cameron, who favored the bill when it passed the senate several weeks ago was on hand to cast his vote in favor of the veto.

The Vote That Killed It

The vote in the senate which killed the bonus was as follows:

For Overriding Veto

Republicans: Brandegee (Conn.), Bursom (N. M.), Capper (Kan.), Colt (R. I.), Cummins (Ia.), Curtis (Kan.), Gooding (Idaho), Hale (Me.), Harrell (Okla.), Jones (Wash.), Kellogg (Minn.), La Follette (Wis.), Lenroot (Wis.), Lodge (Mass.), McCormick (Ky.), McCumber (N. D.), McLean (Conn.), McNary (Ore.), Nicholson (Colo.), Norbeck (S. D.), Oddie (Nev.), Rawson (Ia.), Shortridge (Cal.), Standfield (Ore.), Sutherland (W. Va.), Townsend (Mich.), Watson (Ind.)—27.

Total 44.

To Sustain the Veto

Republicans: Ball (Del.), Borah (Idaho), Calder (N. Y.), Cameron (Ariz.), Dillingham (Vt.), Du Pont (Del.), Edge (N. J.), Ernst (Ky.), Fernald (Me.), France (Md.), Keyes (N. H.), Moses (N. H.), Nelson (Minn.), New (Ind.), Newberry (Mich.), Pepper (Pa.), Phipps (Colo.), Reed (Pa.), Smoot (Utah), Sterling (S. D.), Wadsworth (N. Y.)—21.

NEW TARIFF RATES EFFECTIVE TONIGHT WITH HARDING O. K.

Measure is Given Formal Approval by the President on Thursday

NEW YORK CUSTOMS BROKERS IN RACE AGAINST NEW RATES

Rush to Get Goods Out of U. S. Warehouses by Midnight

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Harding Thursday signed the tariff bill of 1922, making the new rate effective at midnight.

The bill was signed shortly after 1 o'clock in the president's office in the presence of Chairman McCumber of the senate finance committee, Chairman Fordney of the house ways and means committee, a number of house members and others.

Remarking that the measure had been "long in the making," President Harding, after he had affixed his signature with a pen presented to him by Mr. Fordney, who said he intended to keep it as a souvenir, said that "if we succeed, as I hope we will succeed, in making effective the elastic provisions of this bill this will prove the greatest contribution toward progress in tariff making in a century."

Rush to Get Goods Out

NEW YORK.—Customs brokers made haste Thursday to withdraw merchandise from government warehouses before the new tariff rates became effective at midnight.

Owners of large consignments of goods now in transit pointed the race on the last day adding to hundreds of brokers besieging the customs house with inquiries for manifests of vessels due or a few hours overdue. Every available clerk in the customs department was called upon to assist in putting through emergency orders for withdrawal of goods from government storage.

Congress Adjourns Today

A resolution providing for sine die adjournment of congress on Friday at 2 p. m., was passed Wednesday by the house and sent to the senate.

U. S. PLANS BOND ISSUE FOR FUNDING OF SHORT-TIME DEBT

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Issuance of bonds as part of the plan of funding the nation's short dated debt was said at the treasury Thursday to be under consideration. About $2,000,000,000 of short dated debt is to be refunded the first of the year.

DOLLY AND ANNIE HAVE A BATTLE OVER PIANO TUNE

The automatic piano in a saloon in Third street, south of Pearl street, was banging out the more or less (it depends on how you view or hear it) melodies of "Where the River Shannon Flows." They were three deep in front of the bar. Outside it was dark. It was Wednesday night.

The saloon door opened and Dolly Quinn appeared on the scene, and the piano kept on rolling out the "River Shannon."

The saloon door opened again and in walked Annie Matalska, and the piano kept on its tuneless way.

But soon the peace and harmony was to be disturbed. Dolly and Annie soon got together. And the argument started over the piano. Dolly said it was playing "Down Where the Wurzberger Flows" and Annie said it was playing "Home Sweet Home."

They couldn't seem to settle the argument among themselves and apparently nobody would pay any attention to them in the bar-room.

Bing! Dolly's fist collided with Annie's left lamp. The music laden air was jarred.

Bang! Annie's mitt landed on Dolly's right skylight. The harmony of the atmosphere got another jolt.

Bing! Bang! B-o-o-o-m!

The battle was on for further orders. The music played furiously. The patrons at the bar got their mind off their refreshments long enough to enjoy the combat. And it was a battle, yea, but it was a mix.

Dolly says she won the fight because she patted Annie in the glans. Annie says she won the battle because she emerged from the fray with a handful of Dolly's hair clutched in her hand.

Set 'em up in the other alley Larry.

PARIS PARLEY ADJOURNED TO FRIDAY TO GET TURKS' VIEWS ON PEACE MEETING

Allies to Sound Out Turkish Leaders as to Basis for Negotiations; Kemal Still Threatens to Advance on Constantinople; Fear for Troops at Chanak in Event of Hostilities

FRANCE AND ITALY WITHDRAW

CONSTANTINOPLE.—By the Associated Press.—The French and Italian detachments and dogs were withdrawn Thursday from the neutral zones of Ismid and the Dardanelles on orders from their respective governments.

PARIS.—By the Associated Press.—The allied powers are agreed upon the quick summoning of a peace conference to settle the Turkish problem but the delicate questions as to the basis of negotiations acceptable to the Ankara government is still to be answered.

It is principally to sound out the Kemalists on this source that the entente statesmen adjourned their conversations until Friday and today efforts were going forward to obtain the Turkish view.

In agreeing to summon around the peace table the eight nations principally interested in the Near East and the status of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus, Premier Poincare, Lord Curzon, and Count Sforza consider they did a full day's work.

Expect Decision Today On Federal Rail Injunction

CHICAGO.—Judge Wilkerson Thursday afternoon delayed decision on the government's bill for a temporary injunction against the railroad strikers until Saturday and continued the restraining order now in effect until that time.

Look to Turks

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—With progress reported to have been made in Paris Wednesday toward solving the differences between France and Great Britain over the near eastern crisis, the British official circles expressed the opinion that the key to the whole situation now lies with the Turkish nationalists from whom nothing has as yet been heard with regard to their intentions toward the neutral zone and crossing into Thrace.

Conference in Constantinople?

CONSTANTINOPLE.—By The Associated Press.—While the allied powers are feverishly endeavoring to arrange a peace conference to clean the slate between Turkey and Greece and prevent more fighting in the near east, rumors of impending hostilities continue to come from Constantinople and the Dardanelles.

A relatively small force of British troops is holding Chanak, the key position on the southern shore of the straits, while the Turkish nationalists, eager for further conquests after their overwhelming defeat of the Greeks, awaiting the word from Mustapha Kemal Pasha to advance.

Turks Well Equipped

The Kemalists, official French dispatches say, have available for use in such a drive, 1,000 modern field guns, 3,000 machine guns and enough ammunition for a two years' campaign, which the captured men of the Greeks. If their spokesmen at Constantinople is to be believed, the Turks are determined that the allies shall not stand in the path of their desire to reoccupy Thrace.

A ray of hope, however, is seen in the conference at Smyrna between Mustapha Kemal Pasha and General Pella, French high commissioner, to which Yussuf Kemal Bey, the nationalist foreign minister, has been hastily summoned from Ankara. The calling of Yussuf points to the discussion of important and delicate questions, and the consequent delay raises hopes that the Turkish attack, if it takes place at all, will be retarded until the British reinforcements can arrive.

Bill to Regulate Grain Trading IS SIGNED BY HARDING

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Capper-Tinchin bill providing for regulation of trading in futures on grain markets was signed Thursday by President Harding.

It follows along the same lines as the act of 1921 except that it is based on the power of congress to regulate interstate commerce while the statute to which the supreme court found objection was predicated on the taxing power of congress.

Grain exchanges coming under the new act are those at Chicago, Minneapolis, Duluth, Kansas City, St. Louis, Toledo, Milwaukee, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Baltimore.

DEAD COUPLE USED ABANDONED HOUSE AS TRYSTING PLACE

Evidences of Occupation Found in Building Near Place
Bodies Were Found

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—By The Associated Press.—Many evidences of recent use were found Wednesday in the old unoccupied house on the hill-top overlooking the orchard where last Saturday the bodies of Rev. Edward W. Hall, rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, wife of the church sexton, were discovered.

Investigators working on a theory that the place might have been used by the slain couple as a trysting place, found September magazines in the library, which was well stocked with books. At the head of a luxurious couch was an ash tray in which lay two cigarette butts. The telephone was still connected, although the real estate agent who bought the place last July had long ago ordered the line disconnected.

On a pad near the telephone was a number and the name "Willie Stevens"—the eccentric brother-in-law of the slain minister.

Nowhere could be found any bloodstains of disarray to indicate a struggle had occurred in the old house.

New Victor Music

Paderewski on a new record, a number of his own composing, is among the new September Victor record releases, the first record this great pianist has made in a long time. It is a soft, not a showy, record, very melodious, and a welcome utterance from the great master.

September is a particularly appropriate month for Schumann's Heine to make a record for John Henry Newman's "Lead Kindly Light." It was in September, 1901, that McKinley was assassinated, and it was on his deathbed that his love for this great hymn came into memory. Schumann-Heink sings it, as might be expected, in a natural and heart-felt style.

By no means are all the great operatic scenes in the works of old masters. Giamomo Puccini still lives and still composes, and for lyric inspiration his betrothal scene from his "Madame Butterfly" is as great, perhaps, as anything in Italian music. Frances Alda and Giovanni Martignoli sing this enchanting duet "O quanti occhi fis!" (Oh, kindly heavens) on a new Victor record for September.

"My Mother," which Orville Harold sings on a new September record, is distinctly American. It is simple in style and homely in sentiment, full of mother-love and tender reminiscence in words and melody.

Because Jascha Heifetz is a master of the violin does not mean that he utilizes his mastery purely for display. The "Concerto in A Minor—Andante" which he plays in September is a classic example of his use of an astounding technique for the production of a pure, clear, penetrating, singing tone, without mechanical or trick effects.

In characteristic vein for Mme. Homer is "My Ain Country" distinctly a woman's song for women, a quaint melody of almost heart-breaking pathos, sung throughout with that simplicity which defies the common expedients of art. It is Scotch in style—slow, measured, powerfully rhythmic, with a characteristic minor strain throughout.

A pioneer in opera, Weber's imagination and daring influenced even Richard Wagner. The brilliant overture which he wrote in his later years for his fantastic elfin opera "Oberon" has been a prolific source of ideas for generations of less gifted composers. During September it is presented in two parts with all its original form and color by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, led by the famous Dutch conductor, Willem Mengelberg.

It must be a relief to John McCormack, so often called upon to exert the full power of his voice, to sing a melody as smoothly flowing and easy of delivery as "Wonderful World of Romance," which he sings on a new September Victor record. A melodious violin obbligato attends him.

For September Fritz Kreisler has brought within the compass of two instruments—piano and violin—his own arrangement of Rimsky-Korsakov's parti-colored "Chanson Arabe" the Festival at Bagdad from "Scheherazade" inspired by the Arabian Nights. Thus arranged it makes a lively and brilliant Victor record, opening slowly yet rhythmically, progressing through graceful dance phrases to a mad climax yielding finally to others, weird, capricious, always unexpected.

With his brother Hugo, Fritz Kreisler again takes part in an instrumental duet, an arrangement for cello and piano of some quaint old Viennese songs, in which this record is greatly refreshingly touched with the waltz feeling that inevitably appears in everything Viennese. Hugo takes the cello in this record. Fritz accompanies on the piano.

From Chile and Argentina the fame and popularity of "Ay-Ay-Ay" (Creole Song) have spread throughout the world. Tito Schipa sings it on a September Victor record in a style pure and beautiful, yet with fine and splendid masculine power.

There are six new dance records on the September Victor list, twelve numbers, of which Club Royal Orchestra plays four. In a record copying both sides, this organization plays two fox trots with some new effects. "Wholly Take My Place" has some interesting combinations of a jazz-whistle and a saxophone. "Georgette" is in medium time, but with crisp, sharp accents with some fine trumpet passages, celesta effects,

REPORTERS BESIEGE DENBY

Secretary of the Navy Denby, recently returned from the orient, paid a call at the White House. After the visit he was besieged by reporters seeking news of Mrs. Harding's condition.

PLAYS TRICKS ON MIND TO ACCOMPLISH CURES

PARIS.—A day at the clinic of Dr. Emile Coue, the healer of Nancy, would indicate that the human mind is the master of human disease.

His fame as a healer has spread afar and people from all parts of France are coming to him. Scientists are watching closely the work he is performing.

Coue does not claim that his methods are a substitute for medicine or surgery. He does not claim to have a substitute for religion. But he does claim—and his successes substantiate him—that auto-suggestion is helpful in organic as well as in nervous and functional diseases.

"Anyone can practice auto-suggestion for himself, without seeking the help of another person," says Dr. Coue.

Stated simply, the practice of auto-suggestion consists of eliminating unwanted thoughts and replacing them with desirable thoughts.

For instance, have you a headache? Concentrate on a phrase such as "The pain is going away." Repeat it so rapidly that your mind has no room for any other thought. The pain will leave.

Here is another experiment which advocates of auto-suggestion advance. Put your foot on the floor. Say to yourself, "I can't move my foot." Concentrate on that thought. As long as you hold your mind steadily to the belief that you can't move your foot you will find that the foot is immovable.

Dr. Coue's patients become adept in auto-suggestion by constant practice. Their pains depart. Then, in many cases, the fundamental causes of their illnesses disappear.

and one or two bits of odd syncopation.

Trombitts, or "Hot Lips" is a common malady among cornetists and trumpeters. It is also the pet name of Henry Busse, first trumpet of the Whitehams, who with Henry Lang and Lou Davis have composed a Blues Fox Trot by name, "Hot Lips." The Whitehams play it on a September Victor record—a sad-eyed, romantic fox trot in which Busse's instrument is prominent. In fact they say "He does about everything with it but crawl into it." "Bring Back My Honey Man" which the Virginians play on the same record is also in blues tempo, with a rolling, rocking rhythm, slow enough to shape your steps easily.

Representative of the most modern development of the American dance orchestra are two numbers by Paul Whiteman and his orchestra and Club Royal orchestra on a September Victor record. As examples of skillful and ingenious scoring "My Hamble Rose"—a melody fox trot from the "Ziegfeld Follies," played by the Whitehams, and "Dancing Fool" a fox trot by Club Royal, must be considered as advances upon what has already been done.

"Swanee Bluebird" by the Benson orchestra of Chicago introduces a real, live, genuine novelty—Master Billy Osborne, bird warbler aged 10, with a few vocalizations, producing in his throat his remarkable bird imitations, learned by himself in the woods. Against the serviceable strains of "Swanee River" Billy plays the blue-bird.

The eye is familiar with Edgar A. Guest's pleasant verse: the ear now hears the author recite selections of his own on a September Victor record. In the first poem Ma loses her pocket-book, with consequences on her state of mind inevitable in "the best regulated families." On the other side "The Old Wooden Tub" parades the institutional Saturday night ablutions.

STARTLING STUNTS WITH RADIO ARE FRANCILL'S FORTE

Unique Exhibition Features New Vaudeville Bill at the Majestic

Radio fans who listen in nightly on concerts snatched from the air are due for some big surprises when they see the strange things Francill, the radio wizard, accomplishes with a miniature sending station and carefully tuned receiving apparatus at the Majestic theater today and the rest of this week.

An automobile is controlled by Francill's radio set. It starts or stops moves to the right or left, with the push of a key. With another key he lights or extinguishes the headlights and with another he sounds the horn. A miniature electric pump is made to operate with the push of a button. Lights are turned on by means of a light ray and many other "strange things" are accomplished. As a climax Francill operates two automobiles simultaneously from the same sending station.

"It is simply a matter of controlling the electric waves which send into the air," Francill says. "When concerts are broadcast every one with a receiving outfit properly attuned can listen in. How to send that concert directly from the broadcasting room to one individual was the problem."

Predicts Train Control

"For months, I worked on this point. And it was only recently that I mastered it sufficiently to carry on the experiments and demonstrations I am making."

"In a few years radio will be used commercially to a great extent. I expect to see railroad systems operated from one central point by radio, doing away with wrecks and other disasters. City transportation systems may be controlled in similar manner. Ocean liners, underwater craft and even airplanes will be operated without wires."

Crewless Ships Seen
"If there is another great war everything may be done with radio: armies directed, cannons fired. There may be no such slaughter as in the last war, for when a ship is destroyed there will be no crew to go down with it."

Francill will be seen at three performances, one in the afternoon and two evenings.

To Keep Hair Curly, Wavy and Beautiful

Here is how your hair can be curled, nicely, easily and harmlessly, to "stay curled." Before doing it, apply a little liquid silmerine with a clean tooth brush. In three hours you will have just the prettiest curls and waves—and they will look and feel so natural you'll never think of doing without silmerine thereafter. You won't be troubled any more with hair stringing around your face—with burnt, uneven ends, nor with that dull, dead appearance. The hair, whether long or bobbed, will remain in curl ever so long.

Any druggist can of course supply you with liquid silmerine, and a few ounces will last you a long time. It is neither sticky nor greasy, and is really a delightful thing to use. It is doubly useful because of also serving as a beneficial dressing for the hair.

"I thought—as many people do—that a player-piano was simply a mechanical instrument that ground out tunes—much as a machine turns out bolts!

"But after the salesman had me sit down and play the Gulbransen, I changed my idea. I found the Gulbransen a finished musical instrument—a tremendous advance over the player-pianos I had known in years past.

"I became enthusiastic. I wanted it for my home."

"Now that I have it I am more pleased than ever. Between business and social duties I never had much time for music. But in a few evenings Gulbransen Instruction Rolls taught me to play well. In fact, better than my wife, who has taken lessons for years.

WHAT SHALL IT PROFIT
FOR what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man

Labor and Banks

A STORY coming from New York will be of interest to union men, because it shows that big business men are coming to do business with trades unions upon a purely business basis.

So the story goes, the Harriman bank, New York, loaned $400,000 to the railroad unions. The funds were used to help finance the shopcrafts strike.

Important Wall street interests remonstrated with the Harriman bank officials. They pointed out that the money might help win the strike, and that this would be bad for business interests generally.

The Harriman bank is one of the biggest in the country. No doubt many of those who remonstrated were patrons of the bank, men powerful in the business life of the country. But that made no difference to the bank officials. They replied that the railroad brotherhoods were patrons of the bank. They were good for the money. It was none of the bank's business what they did with the loan as long as the security was sound. They didn't ask how it would be used, and they didn't care. It was the business of bankers to loan money on good security, and they were bankers.

When a trades union can go to a great capitalistic bank and borrow money to run a strike, the fact seems to indicate that even Wall street recognizes unionism as a substantial thing, to be treated by business men upon a business basis.

But there is another side of it. Some union men are looking with sympathy toward Russia. The greatest trouble with Russia is that it lacks credit. It lacks credit because it refuses to pay its bills. Legitimate American unions have established credit. That is why the railroad strikers could borrow money of a Wall street bank. When Russia re-establishes its credit, which is the basis of good faith, it will begin to get upon its feet.

Mercy!

IT IS difficult to grasp, or even to imagine, the suffering which has followed the advance of the Turks and the burning of Smyrna. This historical city of more than 250,000 population was practically wiped out, with a death toll of some 75,000. Hundreds of thousands are homeless and in desperate want. Of course those who suffer most are Christians, because the thing is fundamentally a religious conflict. A terrible fate was inflicted upon Christian Armenians wherever the Turks could fall upon these historical enemies.

The Near East committee has asked the Tribune to receive gifts of money to be forwarded to their Wisconsin department in Milwaukee, and to be used for rushing relief to the sufferers, thousands upon thousands of whom will die unless help comes. This Christian country owes it to the civilization in which we live to come to the rescue. Christianity can be severely indicted for having permitted the slaughter of Christian Armenians by the Turks whenever the latter chose. It can never wipe out the blot. All that can be done now is to be as helpful as possible to the remnant of this Christian nation whose entire history is one of martyrdom at the hands of Moslem butchers.

Send what funds you can spare to the Tribune. An account will be kept of it, and it will be forwarded with all speed upon its errand of mercy. A list of the donors will be published from day to day. The amount of the gifts will not be mentioned.

Make it Safe

THE deplorable accident of Sunday on the Mormon Coulee Road emphasizes again the urgent necessity of a sidewalk for the safety of pedestrians along this much-traveled highway. So long as the paved road offers the only alternative to wading through mud and high weeds, pedestrians will continue to chance it in the path of the automobiles. And every now and then there will be a serious, a fatal accident. Rudolph Stender was the third pedestrian to be killed on the Mormon Coulee Road between the end of the car-line and the city limits, this year. It is safe to assume that had there been a sidewalk three lives would have been saved.

There are few houses along this stretch of road, and property-owners might object to a sidewalk which is of little direct value to them. But that objection should be disregarded in view of the imperative situation. The city has found a way to build a sidewalk along the causeway, where the conditions are much the same. It is significant that there is seldom an accident involving pedestrians along the causeway.

Incidentally, the unfortunate accident of Sunday night may offer a text for preaching to pedestrians on auto highways the wisdom of travelling against traffic. If you keep to the left, when walking, you will be facing all the cars coming your way, and will have plenty of time to get out of the way of danger, in day or darkness. In the eastern part of the state they make a special effort to impress this on school-children who must walk the roads. It is the rule on the Lincoln Highway everywhere. It should be followed by every pedestrian where there is vehicle traffic. "Keep to the left" is as important a rule for one on foot as "keep to the right" is for the driver of a car.

Money

BANKERS check up and find that 26,637,831 Americans have savings accounts, better than one for each family. The savings total around $17,000,000,000, which suggests that the proverbial thrift of the French may lag behind ours. American savings accounts are twice as much as the total amount of money in circulation, plus all our gold. And more billions are banked in commercial or checking accounts. Apparently each dollar shows up several times as a bank deposit. Frequently we deal with credit when we think we're handling the actual cash.

Death

A MAN dies on an operating table in St. Bartholomew's Hospital in London. Surgeons continue their cutting. They reach and begin to massage the pericardium, membrane enclosing the heart. In half an hour the heart begins beating normally. The patient does not regain consciousness. But his heart continues beating 24 hours, when it stops forever. This is not pulling a man back from the grave. But it is mighty close to it.

Speed

EVERY dollar in the country is changing hands seven times a month. Bank clearings in August exceeded $30,000,000,000, or more than seven times as much as the total amount of money in circulation. If you can hang onto a dollar four and a half days, you are doing better than the average.

You know about the horn of plenty; but the horn of too much is a man always blowing his.

Tom's Occult Love

By JANE OSBORN

"Who's the pretty girl?" There were surprise and concern in Mrs. Claverly's tone as she looked first at the small photograph print and then at her nephew, Thomas Claverly, seated opposite her at the reading table in the Claverly living room.

"Pretty girl?" queried Tom. "I didn't meet any girls, much less pretty ones."
"Why, in one of these pictures that you gave me to look at—here in this envelope that you said contained views of your shack. It's rather queer. There's a girl, big as life and twice as natural standing beside the cabin—that's perfectly clear, too, only the girl seems to be bigger than the cabin. Tom, what does it mean?"

"Let's see," said Tom, stretching a much tanned hand across the table. "To tell the truth, I hadn't seen the prints. I got them from the photographer man on my way home and didn't look at them. But the only pictures I took were of the shack with one or two of Rob. There weren't any girls there. Good Lord! How does it mean?"

"Tom Claverly, who is she?" "Blessed if I know. Yet seems as if I'd seen her somewhere. She looks familiar and yet—"

"Tom!" Mrs. Claverly looked intently into her nephew's face. "It's—it's—Tom, I never thought you were psychic enough to have anything like that happen to you. You know that medium had some pictures—"

"Now, aunt, you haven't been going to any more of those fool seances have you?"

"That's neither here nor there. But clearly this picture is one of those—medium, spirit, exposures. Tom, did you ever know a girl that looked like that—who died?"

"Died? Goodness no! I have a sort of an idea that I saw a girl that looked like that once, but she isn't dead."

"Have you been thinking of her? Has her face been haunting your dreams? Tom, she's your soulmate. She may be alive, but her spirit is hovering near yours."

To all of this Tom said "Bosh." He did not admit that on carefully studying the face of the girl in the picture he recalled having seen her and having watched her at the hotel where he stopped on his way to his mountain retreat where he had just passed his vacation. He had taken no photographs on the way. The weather was unfavorable. He didn't even know the girl's name, yet he had to admit that he had thought of that face, that once even he had dreamed of her. However, he did not confide in this fact to his aunt.

And that was all there was to it for several days so far as Tom was concerned. He did not know that the next night, when he was working at the office, his aunt, Mrs. Claverly, went to another of those fool seances, and that she carried with her, carefully wrapped in tissue paper, the picture of Tom's mountain shack and his soulmate—his occult love, as she called it. She showed it, proudly, to the medium, who in the course of the evening had a communication from a departed Indian princess, who made it perfectly clear that the girl in question was still among the living. But she was the soulmate of the man who lived in the shack. Her spirit was haunting him.

The medium asked for the picture, and Mrs. Claverly compromised by promising her a photograph of it. This she delivered to the medium within a day or so and then replaced the photograph in the little pocket of photographs which had remained on the living room table. Fortunately Tom had not asked for the photographs in the time that elapsed and had apparently not discovered the temporary absence of the spook picture that so interested his credulous aunt.

A Sunday came and went, and then on Tuesday night Tom came home from his office in apparent excitement. He hurriedly fumbled through the pictures in the envelope on the living room table until he found the "spook picture." He studied it carefully, and then looked at a newspaper clipping that he took from his pocket and then opened and read—or reread—a letter also taken from his pocket.

At dinner he was a little abrupt to his aunt. "Who has had those prints?" he demanded, and the poor aunt hedged, but had to admit the truth.

"Did you know the fool medium gave the print to the newspapers and also gave my name and my business connection?" The whole thing came out in a Sunday supplement day before yesterday. Lucky no one at the office happened to see it. But I got a letter from the girl—"

"The girl in the picture—your soulmate? Oh, do let me have the letter. I must show it to the medium."

"Show it to nobody," said Tom. "You've messed things up enough already."

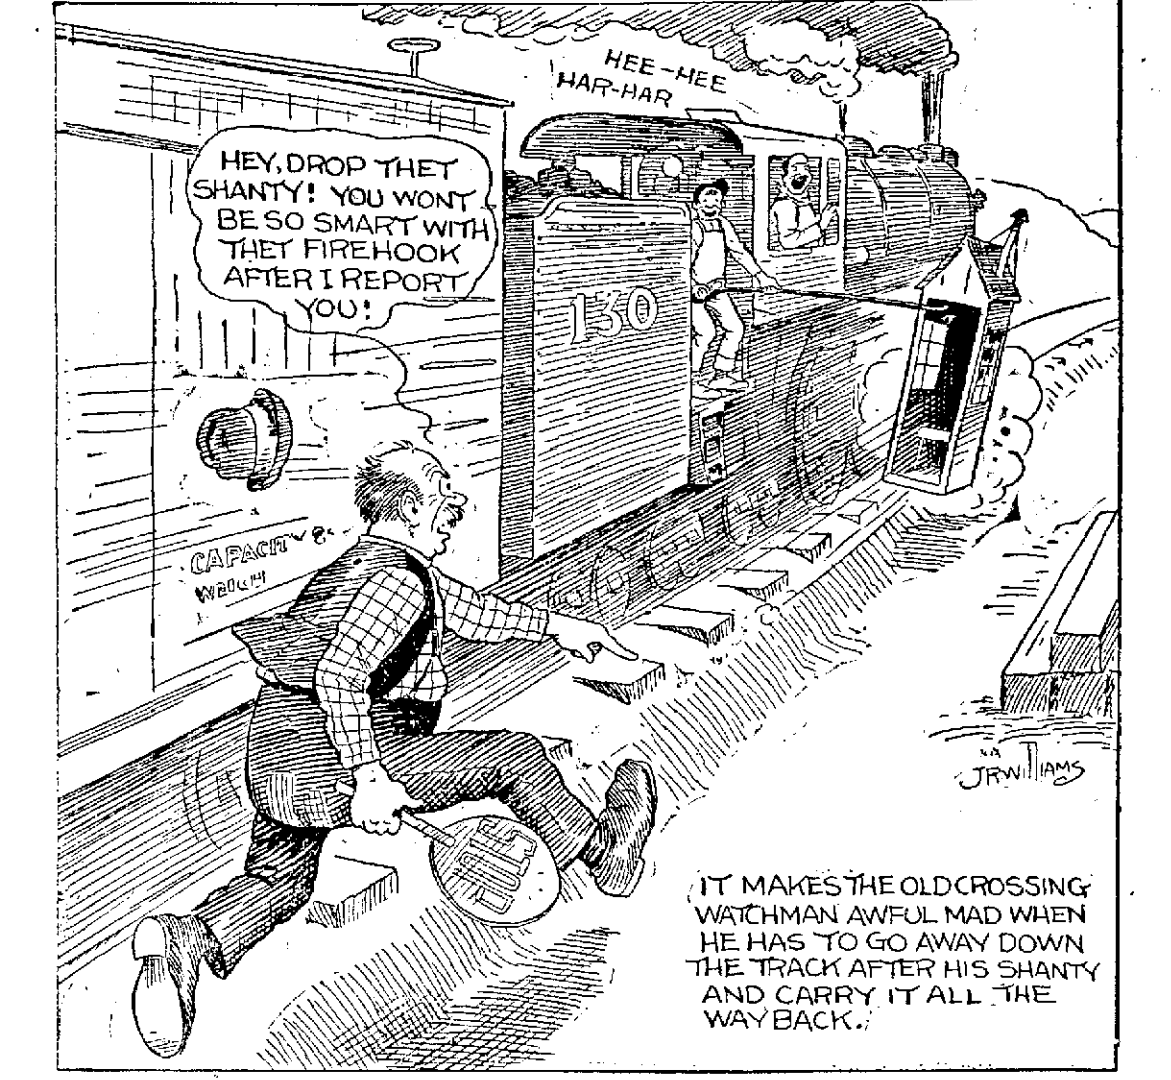

And that was all the satisfaction that Mrs. Claverly got from Tom. The next morning Tom announced that he would not be home for dinner. So, he was not going to work he was going to make a call out of town. Still he was satisfied, and the next week-end he was away—"visiting friends," said Tom, and that was still all the satisfaction that Mrs. Claverly got.

Monday at dinner she was frankly repentant.

"You have been so cool to me lately," she said, a little tearfully. "I am sure it was all because of that snapshot of yours. Honestly, I didn't know what the medium was going to do with it, and I think it has ruined me. I've got to give up the papers and to give your name and everything. But, of course, it is interesting—it's one of the best pieces of evidence of the occult that there has been for a long time. You've got to admit that. But honestly, Tom, I'm sorry if I offended you. I hope you'll forgive me."

"Don't talk about forgiveness,

OUT OUR WAY

"Of course the fellows have been ragging me about it since they knew. It's given me a little notoriety that I didn't quite expect. But after all I'm much obliged to you and your medium friend. But to change the subject, aunt, I want to tell you of my engagement. I feel sure you'll like her. She—"

"But, Tom, you'll never be happy with any one but the spirit girl. She'll haunt you and make you regret—"

"That's the girl I'm engaged to. You see—suppose you let Eleanor explain. I've asked her and her aunt to come to 'ladies' night' at the club tomorrow. You join us and then we'll get the general introduction over with."

And that was all that Tom would say.

At the club the next night, when the preliminaries of introduction were over with, Mrs. Claverly looked long and intently at the girl.

"Excuse me for staring," she said, "but I couldn't believe that you were really the girl in the picture. So you're Tom's occult sweetheart, after all! Isn't it wonderful to feel—"

"Wasn't it the funniest thing?" giggled Eleanor. "And we are so much obliged to the medium, too, because if it hadn't been for the picture I never would have been able to find Tom. You know how it was? You see, Tom stopped for the night at the hotel where my aunt and I were stopping. I admit that I was attracted from the first and knew that Tom had noticed me, but of course there was no way of our getting an introduction. Well, anyway, the next morning, quite by accident, I left my little camera in the lobby."

"Fred Gage had taken a snap of me with it the day before, but we hadn't turned it. And Tom must have left his camera in the lobby, too, and when he went back for it he got mine. That was just before he went away. I knew right off that I had the wrong camera and I rather thought it was his. It somehow didn't look like mine. I was so anxious to find out what Tom's name was, but auntie wouldn't let me ask the clerk or look at the registration book. I rather thought he'd find that picture of me in the camera he took. He took one over it and made a double exposure. Then when my picture appeared in the paper, of course aunt insisted on our writing and asking him to explain. All my friends recognized it as me and teased me unmercifully about it. So we wrote and right away Tom came out to see us and—well, won't it be rich! When we send the announcement of our engagement to the papers we're going to let them have the little story about the camera, not that we like publicity, but that will let the world know that there really wasn't anything spooky about the pictures after all, because of course there never is."

And so impressed was Aunt Claverly by the fluency of her nephew's fiancée that she merely murmured, "Of course not."

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

THE SUPREME TEST
BY BERTON BRALEY
Of all the pests that roam the earth,
And heaven knows there are enough!
The worst I think is he whose mirth
Grows gayest when your luck is tough.
In brief, one of these subtle birds,
Who sees you looking sad and glum,
And hands you out these "jovous" words,
"Cheer up, the worst is yet to come!"
The "Gin and Bear It" chap is bad.
The blithe "Don't Worry" bloke's a snub.
They drive me pretty nearly mad.
I'd like to whale 'em with a club.
But they are harmless, meek and mild.
I'd commend to that infernal bum,
Whose laughing more makes me wild,
"Cheer up, the worst is yet to come!"
Some day I'll catch that gink alone
And with a thick and hard shillally,
I'll break each individual bone
Which he may have—and do it gaily.
And as for lecher, he passed out,
I'll whisper in his tympanum,
"You think you're out of luck, no!"
"Cheer up, the worst is yet to come!"

Thousands Cast Aside Old Laundry Soap

Probably you do not know that the ordinary laundry soap contains a large quantity of "filler" which is waste material made from sand. The women who do know this are careful to get the new GREEN ARROW soap made by the Palmolive Co. It is all soap, hence it cleansing power, and combines real olive oil and lye.

One chemist examined 27 other popular brands and found from 25% to 50% of every bar was "filler."

That is why fabric makers would not think of washing their fine materials with soap you wash them with after you buy them.

The fabric experts use olive oil soap because there is nothing like it to keep and preserve the fibers and colors, or bring out whiteness and freshness.

Imagine how water glass "filler" must eat your clothes when it gets ground into the threads in the wash, and then turns sharp and brittle when your clothes dry.

The thin spots, frayed edges and little holes that you think are caused by "wash wear" are usually caused by "filler" in the soap. You cannot see the fine, colorless particles that grind and rot the fabric.

"Filler" has no more cleaning power than sawdust; hence, until you use GREEN ARROW, you cannot know how much easier it would be to wash with pure soap, and how many bars you would save.

Many women who have tried GREEN ARROW write letters like these: "The work GREEN ARROW soap does is wonderful. I was able to do my washing with half as much of soap that I generally use, with better results."—Mrs. G. E.

"GREEN ARROW goes farther than the soap I have been using. I like it better than other naphtha soap because it is easier on the hands, and the clothes have a sweeter odor."—Mrs. A. H. V.

LEADERS AT WORK PROGRAM FOR NEXT LEGISLATIVE TERM

Predict Passage of Measures Making Radical Changes in Badger Tax Methods

EXPRESS DOUBT AS TO BLAINE
ATTITUDE ON PROPOSED BILLS

Executive Believed to Hold Situation Different this Year

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—A legislative program of vital importance to Wisconsin is under consideration by administration leaders of the assembly and senate who plan, before the session convenes January 10, to have a definite course of action determined upon. Enactment of measures calling for radical change in methods of taxation is predicted by the Progressive members of the legislature.

Members of the senate and assembly have been following the Republican platform convention expressed the opinion that the tax program fostered by the administration during the last session would be enacted into law during the 1923 meeting of the legislature. They pointed out that there was little likelihood of a change of attitude within their forces.

Blaine Attitude in Doubt
Just what the attitude of Gov. J. J. Blaine will be toward some of the proposed tax measures should they pass, both houses, is somewhat in doubt. He is believed to be of the opinion that the tax situation now confronting the state is much different this year than during the previous six years.

The bill in administrative expenditures, due to forced economies by the executive reduction in highway taxes by $2,000,000, and the return of business stability, have placed a different complexion upon the tax problem, the governor is said to feel. With no increase in taxes necessary, he is thought to believe it a matter of policy just how the revenue is to be raised.

Specific reference to definite changes in the state tax laws is left out of the platform adopted by the Republicans, except in one instance when repeal of the secrecy clause to the income tax law is asked.

Will Carry Through Program
Members of the legislature who led the tax fight in the last session say now that they contemplate no amendment to their program which calls for repeal of the personal property effect to the income tax law, increase of income tax rates on higher incomes, raise in exemptions from income tax rates on higher incomes, raise in exemptions from income tax rates on higher incomes, raise in exemptions from income tax rates on higher incomes.

Another proposal to be brought before the legislature by administration leaders is the Huber bill providing for workmen's unemployment insurance. This measure, introduced during the last session by Senator Henry A. Huber calls for state insurance against unemployment in industry. All administration senators supported passage of this bill at the last session and with control of the upper house in their hands, they predict passage at the coming session.

Employment Insurance
This would mean that Wisconsin industries would be required to insure employees who have been in their service a specified length of time against lay-off. During periods of unemployment the men would be paid a small weekly wage, under provisions of the measure, which has the active backing of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor.

Senator H. J. Severson is looked to as the administration leader in the upper house, while John E. Dahl of Barron county is the leader in the assembly. It is thought that Senator Severson, author of several important tax bills, will be named chairman of the legislative finance committee when the session convenes, while Mr. Dahl is the likely administration candidate for speaker.

If chosen chairman of the finance committee Senator Severson will be in a position of commanding importance, and expresses it as his object to hold down expenditures to the minimum and bring about enactment of important tax changes. The two administration leaders plan to co-operate in furthering legislation in the two houses.

FEAR FOR AMERICAN COLLEGE AT CONSTANTINOPLE

KEMAL PASHA IN THE FIELD

Following the rapid retreat of the Greeks, Turkish infantry advances across Asia Minor, scoring the fastest forward movement of troops in recent military history.

Grave fear is felt by Americans who have contributed thousands to the support of the American college at Constantinople for the safety of the college and its staff and students. The American college at Smyrna was burned. If the Turks seize Constantinople, the same fate may befall the college there. Below, the college; above, a group of girl students, who may be seized for Turkish harems.

RACINE TEACHER DIES FROM BLOW FROM GOLFSTICK

Steps into Range of Golfer Demonstrating Strokes to Group of Women

RACINE, Wis.—Miss Evelyn Cannon, Depew, Wis., a teacher in the Racine public schools, is dead as the result of an accidental blow delivered with a golf stick by Allan Simpson, assistant district attorney of this county, Wednesday evening, while he was demonstrating the science of driving a golf ball on the lawn of one of the residences on South Main street.

Simpson was showing the stroke to a number of feminine devotees of the game, when Miss Cannon, who was sitting on the porch of the residence, stepped down behind him just as he lifted the driver in his backward arc over his shoulder. The club struck the young woman just back of the ear. She fell to the ground and despite the efforts of physicians died some fifteen minutes later.

Miss Cannon was a graduate of the Milwaukee Normal school and had taught in Sheboygan previous to her coming to this city.

HISTORY MADE EASY

The family was seated at dinner and the conversation turned to school lessons, much to the consternation and disgust of little Cynthia. "What period in English history are you doing?" asked her father. "The Stuarts," said Cynthia curtly. There was a long pause as father thought out a question to put to his daughter. He was a little hazy about facts, but at last he pronounced his query. "What was the first thing James I. did when he came to the throne?" asked father solemnly. "Said 'on I, I suppose,'" replied Cynthia, with calm conviction.—London Answers.

HORSE HAD BUT ONE RIDER

A painting made for the Delaware state house called the "First Day of Peace" contains an excellent representation of the white charger of General Lee, which was a remarkable animal in many ways. In the first place it carried its master all through the entire war without injury and after the war the general retained possession of the animal and was frequently seen upon his back. After the death of his owner it was necessary to put the animal out to pasture for the remainder of its life for Lee would allow no one else to mount him. The horse was known as "Traveler."

ONLY FORTY-SIX BODIES ARE FOUND IN ARGONAUT MINE

JACKSON, Calif.—By The Associated Press.—One body was missing today among those of the forty-seven gold miners who perished from gas nearly a mile down in the Argonaut shaft. By a whim of fate it was the body of William Fessel, the man who wrote on the rock with the smoke of his miner's lamp a farewell message for all the doomed forty-seven. Fessel wrote "Gas getting bad 3 o'clock."

This was three hours after the miners trapped by the fire above them. Only his dying message remained when the rescue crew of the United States bureau of mines checked their lists and found but forty-six bodies.

The Oldest Piece of Sculpture What is regarded as the oldest piece of sculpture in the world is in the Museum of Antiquities at Boulogne, Egypt, in the shape of a carved piece of wood, which is thought to be 6000 years old. It is in the form of a man erect and holding a staff and the character of the workmanship and the quality of the form and feature indicate that it is a relic of a people highly civilized and possessing a high form of art. It was discovered by Mariette, a French Egyptologist, who presented it to the Museum, but nothing more is known of its history.

JAP ROSE SOAP

BLACKHEADS GO QUICK BY THIS SIMPLE METHOD

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body, go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of calomine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. The calomine powder and the hot water have just dissolved them. Pinching and squeezing the blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them open and unsightly and unless the blackheads are big and soft they will not come out while the simple application of calomine powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition. You can get calomine powder at any drug store and if you are troubled with these unsightly blemishes you should certainly try this simple method.

BOY SCOUTS AT FAIR MAKE HIT WITH COURTESIES

Lads in Uniform Serving in Hundreds of Tasks to Accommodate Visitors

Visitors at the fair have noticed the presence of a new type of usher, messenger and guide—an active boy in a scout uniform. For the first time in the history of the fair, the Boy Scouts have come forward and in their little way are doing much to make the fair a success. The main headquarters for the Boy Scouts at the fair is the information booth and rest room conducted by the Chamber of Commerce. From these headquarters details are sent wherever they are needed. Six boys act as messengers for the president, secretary and treasurer of the association, four act as ticket takers at the grand stand, thirty act as ushers in the grand stand proper, and scores of others perform the duties of guides on the grounds, directing the people here and there, telling them where to purchase their grand stand tickets, etc.

First Aid Station
The scout headquarters is also equipped with first-aid kits, donated by Mr. Sjolander. It was interestingly remarkable to note how quickly aid was sent to the driver who was rendered unconscious on the track in yesterday's races. While three scouts applied bandages to the injured man's limb, 20 other boys formed a chain to hold back the crowd. The boys did not stop to inquire if the man was injured before rushing for their first-aid kits, immediately upon seeing the accident they procured same before the man became wholly conscious. Often during the day when persons were sought by telegraph messengers or wanted on the phone, and seeking them was thought an impossibility, scout headquarters was appealed to as a final recourse and invariably the wanted persons were found within a very short time through the scouts' system of scouring the grounds.

Money is Saved
The fair association previously has hired men and boys to fill the places that are now being filled by the Scouts. The money thus saved through the use of Scouts is being put to general use, along with all the extra money earned by the Scouts during the entire fair. For instance, one of the boys reported to have saved a horse to a certain party. After the horse had been delivered the boy received a dollar in payment for his services, which he turned over to the general fund. There was only one instance where a tip was forced upon a boy, and that was 10 cents for running an errand. This was also turned over to the general fund. The money thus procured is to be used by purchasing first-aid kits for camp Young Bear, the Boy Scout camp.

One hundred and fifty boys report duty for duty during the fair. The Scouts to the fair they receive excellent training in public service. The wealthy boys of the city are working side by side with the boys whose fathers have been out of work for months.

Tries to Sneak In
It was reported that one man attempted to pass the boys at the grand stand, but he was caught by the Scouts. The man stated that he had not paid admission to the grand stand once during the last three years.

The Scouts through their work at the fair, are winning many recruits to their ranks. One citizen remarked to a Scout official as he passed by and reported that he had completed a task and wished to be relieved for 15 minutes, with his empty salute and about face. "We never punish our boy at home," the Scout said, "but we do at the fair."

AGRICULTURE IS BIGGEST INDUSTRY IN COUNTRY

their keep nor pay a profit on their investment, should be culled out.

In continuing he gave the growing of alfalfa a boost. He cited several examples of states whose farmers have been eking out a bare existence, and had become prosperous by raising alfalfa hay, which pays a handsome dividend and at the same time enriches the soil.

"Wisconsin is in splendid shape now," said Mr. Kroh, "but she is slipping back. In the ten years between 1909 and 1919 there was a great increase in the number of mortgaged farms in the state, an increase in the amount of commercial fertilizer used, and an increase in the amount of food bought by the farmers. Listen to the advice of your county agent and your Chamber of Commerce—do something to ward off a calamity similar to that which hangs over the head of Iowa today."

"There is in the country an organization known as the American Farm Bureau Federation, the purpose of which is to work out the difficulties of the farmers. There is also at Washington an agricultural bloc in congress which is working for the best interests of the farmers. It is your duty to see that these organizations are kept out of the hands of unscrupulous, un-American politicians."

Farmer Can't Strike
"It is a false idea that is being circulated that the farmer holds the whip hand and can strike as other workers do. The farmer never will be able to benefit himself by striking."

Mr. Kroh closed by emphasizing the fact that the farmers are the producers of the nation's wealth, and with the advice to the farmer to arrange his business so that it would be a profitable, all-yes concern.

Following the address of Mr. Kroh, the meeting was thrown open, and members and guests were given an opportunity to suggest improvements for the fair. The first speaker called upon was Prof. J. G. Moore, of the University of Wisconsin, who gave several helpful suggestions for the enlarging of the present grounds.

SHOW MILKING SHORTHORNS AT INTER-STATE FAIR FOR THE FIRST TIME THIS YEAR

For the first time in the history of the La Crosse Interstate Fair association the class of dairy cattle known as the Milking Shorthorns, has been given a place on the entry lists. There is but one herd entered at the fair this year. This herd is the property of Mr. T. J. Thorson, noted cattle breeder of Pigeon Falls, Wis.

Mr. Thorson's herd, one of the most widely known in the northwest, was founded in 1914 with the purchase of two cows, five heifers and a yearling bull. All of these were traced to Imp. Young Mary. During later years additional purchases have been made from leading herds in Pennsylvania, Ohio and southern Wisconsin.

The home of Mr. Thorson's herd, known as the Riverside Farm at Pigeon Falls, is one of the finest and most up-to-date dairy farms in the state.

"The chief fame of the Riverside herd is the use of good bulls. Among the noted show bulls used during the last few years are: Trempealeau Duke by the grand champion Queens-town Duke; Waterloo King (by Fairfield King) that by Glenside Lande and out of Rosa Fairfield (and); Iroby Show King (by Imp. Walby Lady 2nd, grand champion cow at the International show in 1918 and dam of the noted heifer, "Lady of the Glen," that sold for $3,500 in 1918). British Glen, the present herd sire, is by Imp. British Prince and out of Lady Mary who has a record of 14,033 pounds of milk in a year and was second prize aged cow at the International show in 1921.

British Glen has a fine show record, having won the blue ribbons at most of the big fairs where he has been exhibited. He took first place at Springfield, Illinois; first at Columbus, N. Y.; first at Trenton, N. J.; and second champion at the Northern Wisconsin state fair at Chippewa Falls.

The herd now consists of 40 head of registered cattle. A ready sale has always been found for surplus bred-in stock and good prices obtained for all stock sold.

Mr. Thorson's herd is attracting a great deal of attention at the fair this year, not only because of the fact that it is the first time that this breed of cattle has been shown, but because of the splendid quality of the animals. Some of the animals shown here have been shown at the International stock show in Chicago.

The La Crosse county exhibit, arranged here the same as at the state fair at Milwaukee is attracting a great deal of attention from visitors to the exhibition building. The township exhibits also come in for their share of favorable comment.

Several automobile display tents have been erected on the grounds since the opening of the fair.

The attractions along the pike continue in popularity for many of the visitors at the fair grounds. The raucous voices of the barkers for the sideshows, mingled with the tin-pan music of the merry-go-round and the shrill voices of the vendors of hot dogs and taffy seem to be an essential part of the activities of the fair.

The judges in all departments were kept working late Wednesday evening to clear up the work, which was piled up due to the fact that no judging was done on the opening day. Everything is nearly up to schedule now, and by Thursday afternoon all of the judging will be completed.

TIERNAN BRANDS AS LIE CHARGE HE HAS ILLEGITIMATE SON

Court Room in Confusion With Judge Threatening to Adjourn Session

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—"It's a damned lie—it's a damned lie," Professor John P. Tiernan shouted from the witness stand to Attorney Samuel Parker, chief counsel for the defense in the Tiernan-Paulin hearing Thursday. Mr. Parker had asked in cross-examination of Mr. Tiernan, "Is it true, Professor Tiernan, that you are the father of a boy living in Illinois, not by your wife?"

Three times the question was asked and the lie passed, the professor answering at the top of his voice, "Prosecutor Floyd Jellison vigorously protested against the methods of the defense. At the same time Judge Ducomb was adding to the confusion by repeatedly rapping with his gavel and threatening to adjourn the court. Everybody in the court-room was on foot.

Finally, through the continued protest of the prosecutor, Mr. Parker ceased his line of questions on this subject and order was restored in the court.

MOONSHINERS ARE TIPPED OFF TO U. S. RAIDS SAYS STONE

Federal Agent Charges Officials in Certain Counties are in League With Bootleggers

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Declaring that constables and other officials in certain counties in the state were not only refusing to give him assistance in enforcing the prohibition laws, but were actually "clipping off" moonshiners and bootleggers to federal raids, James A. Stone, federal prohibition director today assailed officials of certain counties in the state as in sympathy with lawbreakers.

"I cannot at this time mention names of any of the counties I refer to," he said, "but in the near future, if further action on my part becomes necessary, I am prepared to give names and instances where raids failed because of 'tips' given by officials taken into confidence by federal agents."

FRIENDS OF BILL SHORT FOUR VOTES

Shield (Tenn.), Underwood (Ala.), Williams (Miss.)—7. Total, 28.

Paired and Absent
The following were paired in favor of overriding the veto:

Republicans—Ladd (N. D.), Johnson (Cal.), Spencer (Mo.), Willis (O.), Poindexter (Wash.), Norris (Neb.).

Democrats—Walsh (Mont.), Harris (Ga.), Caraway (Ark.), Jones (N. C.), Kendrick (Wyo.), Pomeroy (O.), Pittman (Nev.), Overman (N. C.).

Those paired in favor of sustaining the veto were:

Republicans—Frelinghuysen (N. J.), McKinley (Ill.), Page (Vt.), Weller (Md.), Warren (Wyo.).

Democrats—King (Utah), Swanson (Va.).

Absent and unpaired were Stanley (Ky.), Watson (Ga.), Elkins (W. Va.). These three absentees, two democrats and one republican, if present would have voted for the veto.

How Middle States Voted in House
The house members from the middle west states voted overwhelmingly to override the veto. How they voted:

To Override the Veto
Illinois: republicans—Madden, Spruill, Gorman, Michaelson, Chidbloom, Fuller, McKenzie, Graham, King, Funk, Shaw, Wheeler, Rodenberg, Williams, Denison, Yates.

Indiana: republicans—Bastard, Bernham, Sanders, Elliott, Vestal, Furnell, Kraus, Hickey.

Iowa: republicans—Kopp, Hull, Sweet, Haugen, Cole, Ramseyer, Dowell, Townner, Green, Boles.

Michigan: republicans—Michener, Smith, Ketcham, Mapes, Kelley, Fordney, McLaughlin, Woodruff, Scott, James, Brennan.

Minnesota: republicans—Anderson, Clague, Davis, Keller, Knutson, Volstead, Larson, Schall.

Wisconsin: republicans—Cooper, Voight, Kleczka, Stafford, Lampert, Beck, A. P. Nelson.

To Sustain the Veto
Illinois: republicans—Cannon. (Paired for the bonus—Britten, Brooks, republicans—Rainey, Kunz, Copley, Ireland, Mann.)

Indiana republicans—Moore. (Paired for the bonus—Luhning, Dunbar, Fairfield, republicans. Absent and not paired—Wood.)

Minnesota republicans—Newton. (Paired for the bonus—Steenerson, republican.)

There were no Iowa, Wisconsin or Michigan votes to sustain the veto, but Crampton, republican, Michigan, was paired to override the veto, and Dickinson, Iowa, and Codd, Michigan, were absent and not paired.

Thirty-five republicans and nineteen democrats voted to sustain the veto in the house, while 183 republicans and 49 democrats voted to override it.

Bonus Foes Chiefly in East
President Harding's support came largely from the east. He received some aid from the southern democrats. In the house only seven votes were cast in favor of the veto by congressmen representing states west of the Allegheny mountains and north of the Mason and Dixon line.

Delegations from the big western and middle western states cast their votes almost solidly in repudiation of the president's veto. In the Illinois delegation, Uncle Joe Cannon was the only member to vote to uphold the president. In the delegation from the president's own state of Ohio, only one member, Representative Himes, voted to sustain the veto. The Minnesota and Indiana delegations contributed one vote apiece to the support of the president.

Lodge Votes Against Harding
Virtually all the republican leaders, including most of the chairmen of the powerful committees, refused to follow Mr. Harding. Senator Lodge, republican leader in the senate, Representative Mondell (Wyo.), republican leader in the house; Senator McCumber, chairman of the finance committee; Representative Fordney, chairman of the ways and means committee; Representative Madden, chairman of the house appropriations committee; Senator McCormick, chairman of the republican senatorial campaign committee, and such party wheel horses as Senator Curtis (Ind.), and Senator Brandegee (Conn.), voted to override the veto.

In final appeal to the senate to stand by the bonus, Senator McCumber called attention to the fact that the president's veto was at variance with the overwhelming majority of both houses, and expressed the belief that he would have done well to take this into consideration in dealing with the bill. He insisted that the country was well able to pay the bonus, which he characterized as one of the most popular pieces of legislation in the history of congress.

PARIS OPENING HINTS

Now come the first of the Paris openings to show us what fashion has in store for fall and winter. Advance models, suggestions, predictions and forecasting we have had, but the first of the seasonal openings give us authentic information.

All crepe weaves are still given great emphasis and velvet is much in evidence. Metal lace is very good for evening wear.

Skirtlines are slightly longer and waistlines slightly higher, but both these features are developed in the straight silhouette. Sleeves continue to be important, but they are narrower than they were.

For daytime all the brown shades are the thing, while for evening mimosas, carrot red and other light shades are preferred.

THE REV. J. S. MORSE TO LEAVE SPARTA FOR FORT ATKINSON

First Congregational Church
Pastor Announces Resignation Effective Nov. 1

ALLEGED MOONSHINER SENT TO JAIL FOR 60-DAY TERM

Frank E. Tanner, Long a Resident of Melrose, Passes Away

SPARTA, Wis. — Rev. Joseph S. Morse, pastor of the first Congregational church in Sparta, surprised his congregation, last Sunday morning, by reading a letter tendering his resignation as pastor of the church, the same to take effect on November first. A special business meeting of the church will be held Thursday evening to act upon the resignation of Mr. Morse and to take action looking to the calling of a new man to the place. It is understood that Rev. Morse has been called to the first Congregational church in Fort Atkinson. Mr. Morse came to Sparta four years ago from Sturgeon Bay, succeeding Mr. Hogan.

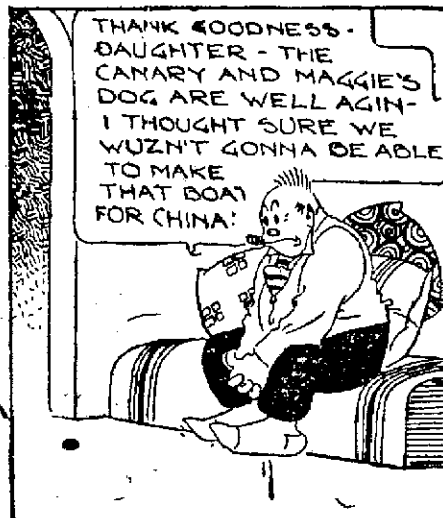

George Roberts, moonshiner who was arrested Sept. 7, charged with making moonshine and destroying the evidence, was tried in County court and found guilty. Judge Richards sentenced him to sixty days at hard labor in the county jail. Roberts, who has been living on the Moss Wells place, was about to move to the Bean farm near Tunnel City, at the time of his arrest. Roberts had a barrel of mash and a jug of the moonshine, which he tipped over and tried to destroy when the officers went to search the house.

The following have applied to County Clerk A. L. Nicol for marriage licenses, the past week: Victor Jorgensen and June Murphy, town of Byron; Iren Krause and Sophia Wellnitz, Tomah; Albert Schmidt, Elroy and Matilda Lippold, Glendale; Lawrence J. Marks, Sparta and Effie Bean, Little Falls; John Richards, Portland, and Olive Haney, Sparta; Dewey Lavender, Rhineland and Zella Fish, Kendall.

County Clerk Nicol had issued 568 hunting licenses up to Tuesday.

Frank E. Tanner, one of the leading citizens of Melrose, died at his home on Friday, Sept. 15. For many years, he was one of the most successful business men in that community. He was born in New York state, Jan. 1, 1849. In 1876, he was united in marriage to Miss Emily Caroline Pardon. Four children were born to them. A daughter died in infancy; three sons survive their father, Frank Tanner, Jr., Burnham Tanner and Clinton Tanner. Mrs. Tanner died in 1913. Mr. Tanner was a member of the Masonic lodge and held membership in the Knights Templar Commandery in Sparta. The lodges of Melrose, Merrillan, Black River Falls, and Sparta were represented at the funeral services, which were held

BRINGING UP FATHER

MORE MINING IN ALASKA

Wages in Alaska have almost been completely readjusted and as a result of this there is increased mining activity. The completion of the railroad through that country has been the means of easing up the labor market. While that work was under way it was almost impossible to get men to do any kind of labor as the railroad contractors made it so attractive that men flocked there from all over the territory. Now they must seek work in the mines and the result is that there is more mining under way at the present time than there has been at any time since the "boom."

HOME SICK ELEPHANT

An elephant in the London Zoological Garden some time ago went on strike and refused to perform her usual work of carrying children about the place. Some new "riding steps," which were made use of by the little passengers to reach the back of the elephant, were replaced by new ones and when she was led to it for the first time she refused to enter. It was thought that she might be making a protest against the removal of the old steps and so these were put in their old place, but still she refused to enter. Soon after this she refused to leave the pen. All other efforts having failed to induce her to be good, it was decided to send to India for a Mahout and he arrived recently. After talking to her soothingly in his native language, and you might say hers also, she allowed him to put a rope around her neck which he used as a stirrup and with this he climbed upon her head and led her through her usual stunts. The animal was presented to the garden by the Maharajah of Cooh Behar, and was evidently home sick.

WHITE ROSE GASOLINE

Refining gasoline from crude oil is a separation process and can be likened to the process of skimming cream from milk.

Skim the top layer from milk and you have pure cream.

Dip a little farther and you get cream and milk. Below this milk only. If the bottle of milk stands long enough you will have some water in the bottom of the bottle.

If, in our process of separation, we dipped a little further, like one would dip farther into a milk bottle for cream, they would get both cream and milk, whereas in gasoline refining we would get coal oil!

"White Rose" starts easily at all times. It can be likened to the "cream" of crude oil. A high grade "Scientifically Refined" gasoline that contains no impurities to retard the action of the carburetor in vaporizing—that responds immediately to the spark. The fire is instantaneous; the discharge is elastic; the force is compelling—and this means a smooth running motor; it means full, even power and economy.

White Rose Gasoline insures a smoother running motor. You will have no unnecessary motor repair bills. You will operate your car more economically.

White Rose Gasoline is always of uniform high quality, quick starting, smooth acceleration, full power and long mileage.

TOM MEIGHAN — RIVOLI
If your best pal were to be shot down by bandits, leaving five motherless children to your care, what would you do? Suppose you answer yes, ask yourself, if this request were made a week before your wedding day, and your bride-to-be positively refused to accept the children, would you still respect the pal's dying wish? Ask yourself this question and then see the startling answer thereto given in "The Bachelor Daddy," starring Thomas Meighan, coming to the Rivoli theatre today.

Mr. Meighan has as his leading woman, Leatrice Joy. She played in "Ladies Must Live," and had one of the four leading roles in Cecil B. De Mille's "Saturday Night."

Maudie Wayne, the feminine heavy in the cast, is well known for her many big screen roles. Several years ago she was a Mack Sennett comedienne and then turned to dramatic work. She has appeared in splendid parts in several Paramount pictures, including "Behold My Wife," and "Maid of the Lady Letty."

Adelle Farnington, Laurence Wheat of stage fame, and J. F. McDonald handle the principal character roles. The five kiddies represent a most distinguished group of juvenile screen talent.

RIVIERA TODAY
One of the finest pictures that has made its appearance here this season opened a run at the Riviera Theatre last night when the William Fox production, "Honor First," starring John Gilbert, was flashed on the silver screen.

It portrays the activities of two brothers serving in the French army. One, an officer, becomes panicky-stricken in the face of an impending assault, his brother saves him from disgrace by changing uniforms with him and leading his company to the attack. He is wounded and a beautiful love tale is wound around his mistaken identity.

John Gilbert's work in the dual role puts him in the front rank of moving picture artists. His sudden transition from the craven state of the coward to the exalted condition of the hero is a piece of noteworthy acting.

WANDA HAWLEY—MAJESTIC
Wanda Hawley in a "light-headed" role!

In "The Truthful Liar," opening today at the Majestic, the pretty blonde star has an ideal role, that of the thoughtless pleasure-loving young wife, who almost allows the happiness of herself and her devoted husband to slip her grasp. It is another of the series of Wanda Hawley pictures in which domestic situations are dissected and treated either with laughter, as in "Too Much Wife," or in more dramatic style, as in the present offering. The lesson taught in this picture, that the young wife who thinks only of "having a good time," is heading her matrimonial bark toward the rocks, is given a most sincere and convincing demonstration. Yet the moral is never allowed to become obvious or "preachy."

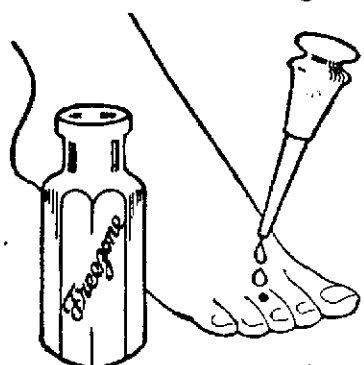

CASINO TODAY
Low Oddy, a well known and popular screen player, has a prominent role in the Cosmopolitan production of James Oliver Curwood's novel, "The Valley of the Silent Men." Playing the part of Corporal James Kent, he gives a dramatic and forceful portrayal. The picture, which is released by Paramount, will be at this theatre today.

SHERMAN KELLY PLAYERS — LA CROSSE
Tonight The Sherman-Kelly Players have selected "Mickey," a mystery comedy, which is a play along the same order as "The Bat." It was a sensation in Chicago and New York as well as in the one night stand engagements the company played throughout the northwest. Special mention is due the Sherman Kelly Players on account of the exceptional vaudeville and musical program offered during the action of the plays. Tomorrow night they offer their feature play, "The Killer," from the pen of Willard Mack, a melo-drama which will prove to be a real feature.

STRAND TODAY
"The Prisoner of Zenda," the million dollar production which is at the Strand Theatre, is a honeymoon picture.

ture. It was in the course of its production at the Metro studios in Hollywood that Rex Ingram, director of the photoplay, and Alice Terry, leading woman, were married. After the ceremony, which took place in Pasadena, in a tea room where a year before Mr. Ingram had met Miss Terry, the two returned to Los Angeles, saw three picture shows and went to work the following morning on "The Prisoner of Zenda" at the Metro studios. This picture is a screen version of Anthony Hope's novel, which Edward Rose has dramatized.

RIVIERA FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

A brilliant play of the far North is promoted by Maudie Wayne. Cooper of the Riviera theatre Friday in Jerry Willard's production for Paramount, "The Siren Call," by J. E. Nash, which presents Dorothy Dalton as the leading player with a strong cast.

There is Mitchell Lewis, mashing into the scene with his dog team, typical adventurer of the white silences.

David Powell plays the leading male role that of a young miner. Leigh Wyatt, Edward J. Brady, Will R. Walling, Lucien Littlefield and Guy Oliver are also included.

Singing to Cure Obesity

There is a controversy raging among French medical men over the alleged discovery of one of their number that singing is a cure for obesity. Lung exercise, he says, makes the fat disappear. The opponents of this theory point out that there are many fat opera singers and the originator of the theory states that there are more thin ones than fat and that the condition of the former is due to improper diet.

Shopping Taught in School

An English school for boys at Crowden is run entirely by a "parliament" of nine scholars, which meets once a week to take action on reported breaches of discipline and to discuss and make suggestions for the betterment of the school. Another innovation at this school is to teach boys how to shop.

FEAR OF SHORTAGE RELIEVED BY BOOST IN COAL SHIPMENTS

Governor Blaine Discusses Coal Situation in State With Fuel Committee

Madison, Wis.—Governor J. J. Blaine went over the Wisconsin Coal situation last night with the state fuel committee in order to acquaint himself with the coal needs of communities and industries. Figures presented to him by P. H. Presentin, secretary of the committee, showing that shipments of soft coal had risen from 454,000 tons in the last ten days of August to an estimate of 956,000 tons for the present week, relieved any apprehension of a fuel shortage.

The matter of establishing an office of the fuel committee at Milwaukee as requested by the chamber of commerce of that city was discussed and practical agreement reached that there was no need for any change in the present administrative system.

Decision was also made at the conference that the fuel committee should continue to purchase coal for all state institutions except the capitol power plant, for the tie being. Bids will later be asked from coal companies.

ZABEL ASKS PROBE OF GRAFT CHARGE IN MILWAUKEE COUNTY

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—District Attorney Zabel went before Judge Backus in municipal court Wednesday afternoon read a petition asking the court to convene a grand jury at once and appoint a special prosecutor of work with the jury to investigate rumors of graft in Milwaukee county.

Mr. Zabel informed the court that numerous charges have been made in the recent primary campaign by some candidates, particularly Attorney Carl H. Jorgensen, who ran for district attorney, that there was corruption in the county government.

"In view of these charges," said Mr. Zabel, "I as prosecutor of the county feel that a grand jury should be called to determine the truth or falsity of these rumors. Also the last grand jury which met in 1917 made the suggestion that a grand jury should be called every two years."

After hearing the petition, Judge Backus indicated that he would receive it favorably and issue the call for a grand jury soon. He said he would appoint a special prosecutor.

PELTS FROM FUR FARMS

It is likely that the demand for furs will be taken care of at no distant date by supplies of pelts from "fur farms" where the animals are bred under artificial conditions. This is already done to a considerable extent at the fox farms established in different parts of this country and Canada and now efforts are being made to cultivate beavers under the same conditions. The latter have met with only partial success. There are some difficulties to be overcome, but there is no doubt that with a little more experience the venture of raising beavers will be practical.

S. R. O. SIGN OUT AT BLAINE'S OFFICE FOR PARDON APPLICANTS

MADISON, Wis.—The "standing room only" sign was hung out in Governor Blaine's office Thursday while the executive is hearing 49 applications for pardons. This is the largest number of applications that the governor has ever attempted to hear in one day. The large number is the result of postponed hearings during the summer months and the political campaign was waning hot.

Thursday morning will see pardons, campaigning, and executive duties relegated to the background in favor of the Governor's favorite shot gun. Governor Blaine will spend Thursday and Friday in the northern part of Juneau hunting the elusive prairie chicken.

The committee in charge of the temporary repair includes H. C. Carrin, G. A. Polley and C. A. Bolton. After an investigation it was decided to grade the road from the Wisconsin end of the high bridge to Bluff Siding, a distance of 4,600 feet and to place gravel on the worst places. The expense of the work is to be borne by contribution.

The work is to be in charge of Joseph T. Namachek, assistant division engineer of the Wisconsin state highway department, and it is expected that the entire job will be completed within two weeks. The River Sand and Gravel company will furnish the gravel.

This temporary improvement will result in a passable and safe road over the dike, it is believed. Next season the Wisconsin state highway department will entirely rebuild the road as a standard Wisconsin trunk highway.

ST. PAUL DRIVER COPS THREE OF FOUR RACES WEDNESDAY

J. MAHONEY WINS TWO PACING AND TROTTING EVENT

J. H. Bogie, Minneapolis, With MacArion, Easily Wins the 2:30 Trot

HEAVY TRACK SLOWS UP TIME IN WEDNESDAY RACES

Edward Perrin, Beetown, Wis., Injured in Scoring Down

Seldom does a single driver mount a sulky to win three races in one afternoon.

This feat, however, was accomplished by J. Mahoney of St. Paul in opening of the races program at the Interstate fair Wednesday afternoon when he defeated the field in the 2:15 pace, the 2:25 pace and the 2:14 trot, three of the four events staged on the tracks yesterday. J. H. Bogie of Minneapolis won successive heats with Mac Arion in the 2:30 trotting event.

Slow Track

The heavy track slowed up the time in the events Wednesday, but rays of welcome sun which broke through intermittently toward the end of the program indicated that Old Sol would place the speedway in fine condition for the events on Thursday. Both of Tuesday's races were rung in Wednesday, in addition to two of Wednesday's events and much credit was due W. C. Robbins, starter, for his ability in placing the program almost up to date in spite of the postponed races of Tuesday.

In the opening event, the 2:15 pace for a $500 purse, Mahoney's bet, Star 8, was forced to yield the initial lead to Dr. Abbott, driven by W. W. Quinn of Westfield, Wis. Star 8 was barely nosed out. In the second heat, Hal J. driven by L. Koefe of Cresco, Iowa, led the field of eight starters at the first wire, but Star 8 displaced him at the three-quarter stretch and easily won the heat. Star 8, then repeated with the next two, making the best time of 2:21 1/4. Quinn's Dr. Abbott took second money, Hodgevood Patch, driven by E. Hall of Wascena, Minn., took third money, and Hal J. driven by L. Koefe of Cresco, Iowa, took fourth money.

Mahoney Wins

In a field of five starters A. Grant, in first position, driven by Mahoney, won successive heats for the purse of $400 in the 2:25 pace. Paul Brooks, driven by W. Harvey, Humbolt, Sask., Canada, won second money. Roy Victor, driven by R. G. Skene of Saskatoon, Canada, won third money, and Dicker Mann, driven by E. Wallace of Elmhurst, Iowa, won fourth money.

Mac Arion had everything his way in the 2:30 trot for $300, making the mile in 2:25 1/4 in the final of successive heats. The horse was driven by J. H. Bogie of Minneapolis. Makola, driven by W. L. Stevenson of Monroe, Wis., won second money, Oakie, driven by C. Hoffman of St. Paul, won third money, while Benter, driven by Art Williams, Sioux City, Iowa, won fourth money.

Perrin Injured

Edward Perrin, driving Patchen Bell, had an accident in turning after scoring down in the second heat of the event. Turning short he collided with another entry, his horse breaking away, raced back in front of the grandstand trailing a broken sulky to the barn. Perrin sustained a gash in his right leg but started back in the third heat.

The 2:14 trot and final event of the program was won in successive heats by Mahoney, driving Joe Hall. The mile was made in 2:22 1/4. In the face of his previous record, Mahoney was generally picked the winner of the event, but spectators were furnished a thriller when his entry was passed up by Bud R. driven by J. I. Dompier of Rochester, at the outset. However, Mahoney came to his wits and on the final straightaway, pulled his entry to a dry path near the outer circle of the track, beating Bud R. to the wire by a mere trifle. In the third heat all eight entries were nicely bunched at the first wire but Mahoney wedged ahead at the three-quarter mark and won the heat and race. Bud R. took second money, Reaper Maid, driven by W. J. Murray, Elmhurst, Iowa, won third money, and fourth money was split between Bud Emerson, driven by W. J. Emerson of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and George Acott, driven by E. Vogel, Saxon Mills, Ill., each having a third, fifth and seventh place.

OSHKOSH NORMAL GRIDIRON PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHTEST IN YEARS; 14 LETTER MEN BACK

OSHKOSH, Wis.—Football prospects at the Oshkosh Normal school appear to be the brightest for many years. Coach Howard J. Hancock, former Badger captain and star line-man, assisted by Assistant Coach H. Whitney, has a squad of sixty-five men practicing three or four hours every afternoon. Fourteen of last year's letter men are back. Never in the history of the school has the material been of such excellent quality.

In McAndrew, star halfback of the last two seasons, Coach Hancock has one of the best backfield men in the state. Arthur Sundt, formerly of Carroll college, and brother of Guy Sundt, is another halfback of superior ability, especially in punting and passing. Erdlitz, a new man and former star at Menominee, Mich., high school teams of several years ago, appears to be sure of the quarterback position. Other promising backs are Olson and Curtis, letter men on last year's team; Rhineholt and Brown of Fond du Lac; Hinz and G. Jensen, former Oshkosh High stars; Dunn and Reed of Shawano and Williams of New Richmond.

In the center position, Coach Hancock has several very good men, including Barker, guard on last year's team; Brindley, regular center, and Rose, substitute center on last year's team; Stuhenvoll, of Shawano, and Jicks, regular center at Carroll college in 1916.

Capt. Hall and Schmidt, regular tackles last year, are both back at their old positions. Wright of Oconto, Pahl, fullback on last year's team, and Darling, tackle at Oshkosh High last year will also be used at the tackle position.

For guards, Sness, regular guard on the Normal team for the last two seasons, and Wilson, center on last year's basketball team, are practically sure of their positions. Other men who will be used at guard are Bloomquist of Tomahawk; Sears of Oshkosh, and Case. All of these men have had experience in the guard position.

At right end it seems certain that H. Jensen, who played regularly in that position last year, will hold his old place. On the other end, Priabe, former Oshkosh High star, and end in 1916 at York college, seems to be a likely candidate. Other promising ends are Hornby of Waupun, Seims of New London, Anderson of Marinette and Gahan of Tomahawk.

The Normal faces the hardest schedule in its history this year. The opening game will be played on Sept. 30 with Ripon, and will be followed by games with seven normal schools, ending with the game with Milwaukee Normal on Nov. 24. Last year the Normal won all of its normal school games, except that with La Crosse, which was lost by a single point. The Normal also defeated Lawrence college, but was defeated by Ripon. Since the defeat of Lawrence by the normal last year, repeated efforts have been made by the normal school to secure a game for this year, but Coach McChesney has held aloof, and it does not now look as though the two schools would get together this season.

YANKS CONTINUE MARCH TO PENNANT

Win Second of Series With Tigers With Late Rally, 6 to 5

DETROIT.—The Yankees continued their march toward the American league championship here on Wednesday, winning the second straight game from the Tigers, 6 to 5. The winning run came in the ninth inning when Mousell drove the ball over the left field wall for a home run.

The victory puts the Yankees three and one-half games ahead of the Browns.

Babe Ruth's best effort of the day was a single. Elmhke passed him once and another time up he was called out on strikes.

In the fourth inning Blue and Jones singled for Detroit and Veach was passed, filling the bases. Fothergill's triple sent in the three runners and Cutchaw sacrificed, scoring Fothergill.

The Yankees evened up the count in the fifth when Scott doubled, Shawkey was hit by a pitched ball and Ruth was passed. All three came in on Pipp's double and the latter scored on Mousell's hit.

A triple by Scott, followed by Shawkey's single, put New York in the lead in the sixth and the visitors threatened again in the seventh when Schang tripled with two down. Scott's fly to Coss, however, ended the inning.

It was tied up in the eighth. Detroit scoring one run on Jones' single and Veach's double. Score:

Home Run Spurt in Late Innings Cut New York's League Lead

NEW YORK.—Pittsburgh on Wednesday reduced New York's lead in the National league to four and a half games, winning the first contest of a three game series, 4 to 1. Pittsburgh, however, still has six more defeats than the Giants. A burst of home run hitting late in the game decided the contest for Pittsburgh. With the score tied in the seventh, Rigbee hit a home run into the right field stands with Carey on base. Cooper hit another home run into the same stand in the ninth. Score:

LIFT INELIGIBILITY FROM WALLACE BARR; WISCONSIN'S HOPES TAKE SUDDEN JUMP

MADISON, Wis.—With the lifting of the ban of scholastic ineligibility from W. A. Barr, Wisconsin's premier forward passing quarterback, the Badger hopes for a championship eleven have taken a sudden jump. Barr is an experienced man with a versatile education on the gridiron.

The Wisconsin squad is hard at work under the direction of Coach John Richards who is already putting his teams through short scrimmaging periods every afternoon. A new possibility for a man to fill the pews of Red Weston at end was uncovered with the appearance of Pulaski, captain and end on the freshman team last year. With the veteran Tebell at right end, Pulaski on the left wing the Badgers appear to have a pair of ends that will stack up well in the conference battle.

Captain Raleigh Williams at the half position appears to be in mid-season form. During the scrimmages here, Williams repeatedly gets away on his typical end run plays which are always good for a substantial game.

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE TEAMS BOWL FIRST GAMES WEDNESDAY

William Scherrer Breaks Alley Record Wednesday Night With a 261 Score

The schedule of the Commercial bowling league got under way Wednesday night with six of the twelve teams, comprising the first shift, in action. Failure of three of the second shift teams to appear, caused the postponement of those games until a later date. Teams on deck for the second shift agreed not to take forfeited games last night.

William Scherrer established a new alley record at the Arcade Wednesday by rolling a 261 to displace the previous record, 256, set by Bill Ford on the night of the dedication.

The C. B. and Q. Hymobiles and Light and Powers won two out of three games Wednesday night from the Tribune, Stavern and Fraser, and the Tag Harts. The Tribune team turned the only score above 900 in the opening games, making a 903 in the final game.

SEVERSON ACT TO BE LEFT UNCHANGED BY NEXT LEGISLATURE

No Tampering With Prohibition Enforcement Law Likely at 1923 Session

MADISON, Wis.—Tampering with the Severson prohibition law is not likely at the 1923 session of the Wisconsin legislature. The Anti-saloon league believes. Their belief is borne out by statements of administration leaders in both houses who say that they will oppose any move to amend this enforcement statute enacted by the last session.

The republican platform is silent on prohibition, except for a statement in one plank which says that "the constitutional right of the people of Wisconsin to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue except upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized."

A move to enact this provision of the platform into law would be fought by the drys, and according to their expressions, by the administration leaders of both houses, who express the feeling that the present law should be left unchanged, with prohibition described as an issue in one session of the Wisconsin legislature.

Some attempt at repeal of the Severson law, or drastic amendment of its enforcement provisions is looked for from Milwaukee legislators during the session. This is not expected to raise a serious issue unless it is thrown out into the limelight by factional division.

It is believed that the principal prohibition fight will be over a resolution memorializing congress to amend the Volstead act to permit manufacture and sale of light wines and beer. Such a measure is looked for and a legislative battle over its provisions anticipated.

There is a belief held by the drys and by leaders in both houses that the Severson law will weather the 1923 session unscathed. It is possible the leaders say that they are going to urge that the statute be left to itself without tampering.

CROP REPORT

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Synopsis of weather and crop conditions in Wisconsin for the week ending Tuesday, September 19:

Cool weather with generous rains prevailed first half of week over the greater part of the state. Light frosts occurred in the north and central portions on the 14th, 16th and 17th, with no material damage to crops. Late corn is ripe in most sections and is nearly all safe from frost. Cutting is general and some is in shock. Silo filling is practically completed. Pastures are mostly green and considerably improved. Rains benefited late potatoes; some are being dug. Fall plowing and seeding are in progress. Cabbage and sugar beets are good. Buckwheat is poor. Fruit is plentiful. Tobacco cutting is well advanced and curing is progressing satisfactorily. The cranberry harvest is nearing completion; quality variable.

Odds and Ends of State Affairs by William J. Anderson

MADISON, Wis.—The state tax commission has completed the tentative valuation of the electric railways of the state. This valuation is not necessarily final, though it is not likely to be changed much at the hearings to be held in October. The companies are allowed at these hearings to point out such defects as they think exist. The proceeding is much like the meeting of the boards of review. The total of the preliminary valuation is $87,775,000.

The commission has also completed the tentative valuation of the public electric light and power and gas companies. There are about one hundred of these. Among the largest of these is the Milwaukee Gas Light company with a valuation of $16,000,000; the Madison Gas and Electric company, $3,500,000; the St. Croix Falls Improvement company, $1,400,000; Southern Wisconsin Power company, $1,500,000; Wisconsin Power, Light and Heat company, $1,600,000; Wisconsin River Power company, $5,000,000; Oshkosh Gas Light company, $1,750,000; Janesville Electric company, $900,000.

The department of public instruction has announced that the statute gives the school district board power to furnish the necessary school books for the use of any children attending school in the district whose parents or guardians may not be able to meet the expense. The prime purpose of the statutes relating to schools is to secure and furnish opportunities for all children to obtain an education and consequently the members of the school board when assembled in a regular board meeting when all three members are present are not only privileged by the statute but the statute also makes it their duty to see that children are furnished with the necessary books in order that they may take advantage of the opportunities offered in the school.

The United States district court for the western district of Wisconsin in its recent decision in the case of Christian F. Wiehe of Chicago, represented by Hall, Baker & Hall of this city, against the individual members of the Wisconsin conservation commission, passed upon the interesting question as to when a lake which in its natural state was never navigable but was artificially made navigable by a dam, becomes public as distinguished from private waters. The action was brought by Wiehe to enjoin the members of the conservation commission from interfering with his operation of a private fish hatchery in a small lake known as Spring lake in Bayfield county. The conservation commission contended that his operation of a private hatchery in the lake was illegal because the waters of the lake were public. Wiehe contended that the waters were private because they were entirely surrounded by his own land, had no navigable inlet or outlet, and had been made navigable solely by artificial means. Judge Luse sustained Wiehe's contention, holding that under the facts in the case there had been no sufficient use of the waters by the public since they became navigable to give the public a right to continue using them.

In an address before the bankers of Grant county on September 15, the commissioner of banking had this to say concerning the condition of Wisconsin banks: "The banks of Wisconsin, both state and national, have enjoyed an enviable record during the past several years. Since 1917, with two exceptions it has been unnecessary for the department to exercise the power placed in it by the legislature to close banks."

MAN AND BEAST COMPARED

Tests made to determine the respective pulling power of horses, men and elephants showed that two horses, weighing 1,600 pounds each, together pulled 3,750 pounds, or 550 pounds more than their combined weight. One elephant, weighing 12,000 pounds, pulled 8,750 pounds. 3,250 pounds less than its weight. Fifty men, aggregating 7,500 pounds in weight, pulled 8,750 pounds, or just as much as the single elephant, but like the horses they pulled more than their own weight; 100 men pulled 12,000 pounds.

WISCONSIN MAY PASS RECIPROCAL AUTO TAX LAW

If Local Citizens Have to Pay in Minnesota, Gopher State Residents Should Pay Here

If the state of Minnesota persists in licensing in Minnesota cars of Wisconsin residents who have summer cottages in that state, the state of Wisconsin will have to pass reciprocal legislation, according to A. R. Hirst, state highway engineer. Replying to a letter telling of a visit to La Crosse by the Minnesota state auto license inspector to warn local persons driving cars in Minnesota of the new Gopher state statute, Mr. Hirst writes:

"I have your letter of the 11th instant, relative to the threat made by someone representing the Highway Department of Minnesota that Wisconsin people, who maintain summer homes on the Minnesota side, will have to take out Minnesota licenses. "I don't know what the Minnesota law is relative to cars from other states, but most of the states have a free interchange of license rights and this is the first time it has been suggested that there should be any restriction on the use of Wisconsin license plates in Minnesota."

"Of course, if the Minnesota law sets up such a standard we would be forced in self-protection to pass a reciprocal law until theirs was repealed."

"I am sending your letter, and a copy of this letter, to the Minnesota State Highway Department, and I hope that you will receive from them an authoritative statement as to the Minnesota law and position in the matter."

(Signed) "Wisconsin Highway Commission, By A. R. Hirst, State Highway Engineer."

MILDRED BALLENTINE TRIES TO END LIFE HOUNDED, SHE SAYS

Former La Crosse Woman, Recently Released from State's Prison, Drinks Acid

Mrs. Mildred Ballentine, of La Crosse, recently paroled from the state prison, and who has been living at Fond du Lac since her release, made an unsuccessful attempt to end her life on Thursday by drinking carbolic acid mixed with milk, according to word received here.

The Fond du Lac police declare Mrs. Ballentine tried to kill herself to avoid being taken to Waupun, and also to avoid appearing in connection with a moonshine case in circuit court. On Wednesday she declared her intention of making another effort to end her life. She said that "oil her life she has been hounded by others." At the prison, she said, "I will never go back to the state prison," she said. "I will kill myself first."

Mrs. Ballentine was sentenced to two years in Waupun on a statutory charge, following her arrest when found in the company of Plus Dunn, who was given a similar sentence. Harry Ballentine, her husband, recently obtained a divorce from his wife in circuit court here.
